

Nuclear Structure 2014

July 20-25, 2014

Hosted by TRIUMF
at the University of British Columbia

The “Nuclear Structure 2014” conference will be hosted by TRIUMF, Canada’s National Laboratory for Nuclear and Particle Physics, on July 20-25, 2014, on the campus of the University of British Columbia. This will be the 15th in this series of biennial conferences organized by North American national laboratories, returning to Canada for the first time since 1992.

Nuclear physicists interested in all experimental and theoretical aspects of nuclear structure will be present to discuss and review the latest issues, trends and challenges in the field. Historically, the conference has drawn about 170 attendees from around the world. Nuclear physics is an interdisciplinary field and relies on partnerships with high-tech industry to deliver state of the art materials and technologies. It has also a strong collaboration with various publishing houses and journals. This specialized conference is an excellent venue to promote your industry to the experts. Some of the fields of technology involved in nuclear physics are, but not restricted to, semiconductor and scintillator detectors, vacuum, power supplies, digital electronics, analog electronics, simulations, and controls, etc.

We have excellent opportunities for both sponsors and exhibitors during our conference.

Why Sponsor?

- Exclusive opportunities throughout the conference to promote your business
- Exposure to nuclear physics specialists from around the world
- Excellent networking opportunities with the experts in the field
- Discussions of future technological developments and strategies to work together
